Ready in 10 minutes

Steaks cook "right to your taste" on the latest Perfection Stove!

Touch a match to the wick. Intense, gas-like heat pours up the long chimney. Heat covers the entire cooking surface of skillet or broiler. It's not focused on one tiny spot. That's why steak is always so well cooked on the newest Perfections. Only 10 minutes to fry a steak 1 inch thick! For best results use a flame with yellow tip 1 1/2 inches high above the blue area.

Perfection Stoves give best results for all kinds of cooking—frying, broiling, roasting, boiling, baking. They burn kerosene, the safe fuel. Ask any dealer to demonstrate.

Daily Proverb—"No beginnings of things however small are to be neglected because continuance makes them great."

Who knows? It's possible that Elmer Gantry may be forgotten even before some of those who enthrall over that kind of stuff.

Maybe Earl Carroll figures that substantial justice will be done if he remains in that South Carolina hospital for a year and a day.

It's pretty evident now that the 164 men who wanted to marry Ruth Snyder will have to select some other way of committing suicide.

If a stop is not speedily put to the announcements that the Prince of Wales is soon to marry, he's liable to begin to believe it himself.

What the president of Chile probably meant when he resigned on the ground of ill-health was that he realized that he was liable to suffer from ill-health if he didn't.

Geno Tanney says no president should subject himself to the excessive strain of hand-shaking. To be on the safe side, we'll do our best to remember that.

We are willing to wager something that the statistician who tells us that the population of the world, 300 years hence, will be 9,000,000,000 hasn't taken into consideration what the drivers of the devil-wagons are doing to us true aristocrats of the land.

We have been told that the weakness of the American food situation was improper distribution, and it begins to look as though the same might be said of our water supply.

Two citizens of Wyoming were frozen to death out there Monday. Remember Monday in this city? There's no getting away from the fact that this old land of ours is one of infinite variety.

A paragrapher says the secret of success is simple. "Just hire a man at two dollars the day to do labor for which you charge somebody else four dollars the day." Simple! We'd like to see him find a man who will work for two dollars a day.

The prison officials say the story about Ruth Snyder throwing a fit is wholly imaginary; that she simply acted as any woman would act whose hopes had been utterly thwarted, which makes us wonder if the story wasn't right, after all.

Prince Mitlano Galatino, the fifth husband of the former Alcee Crocker, heiress to the Crocker families, offered to let her divorce him for $250,000, which is no more than right. Any woman who wants to experiment in progressive matrimony should be willing to pay for it.

Regarding Conscience.

"Forced to the curb at Center and Clark streets yesterday after a chase in which a dozen shots were fired at him by a pursuing detective bureau squad, Charles Coffee, a bootlegger to Chicago's wealthiest drinkers, stepped from his automobile and confessed without hesitation that he shot and killed Motorcyclist Policeman Sam Mapes near Sturgis, Michigan, last Sunday.

"We want you for killing Sam Mapes," said Lieutenant Michael Grady leader of the detectives.

"Coffee tendered a pistol. 'That's the gun I killed him with,' he said. 'He was an honest, brave policeman. I killed him after he had refused to take a $300 bribe. I'm sorry I did it, and I'm willing to go back to Michigan and stand trial.'"

The foregoing three paragraphs were clipped from a somewhat lengthy story, of the bootlegger's capture carried one day last week by the Chicago Tribune. In the story it was related how Coffee, who committed the crime to which he confessed while running a load of imported beer, had asserted to the officers after his capture that his customers were among the most prominent men in Chicago.

And in this assertion, which is hardly to be questioned, we have the explanation of the failure of the enforcement of the Volstead law and the reign of crime which those responsible for its failure have produced. It is not the poor man, it is not the man of very moderate means, it is not the average wage-earner, who is making the rum-runners and bootleggers rich by their patronage. It is none of these whose encouragement of crime has brought about gangster terrorism and gangster murders. It is the people of means, people often of great wealth and prominence, people to whom money means little or nothing compared with the exercising of "personal liberty" in violation of the law, who buy from such men at this Coffee—one who confesses that he killed a policeman because the policeman was honest and refused a $300 bribe.

It has long been a matter of wonder to us how the people who buy liquor in violation of the law can square their consciences when they read of such murders as this to which this man, Coffee, has confessed. It has long been a wonder to us how they can escape, if they do escape, a feeling of personal guilt as an accessory to the crime.

Very Much as Predicted.

It is not much of a problem to figure what such an international economic gathering as that assembled in Geneva will at least attempt to accomplish if we are conversant with the advance propaganda inspired by the aims and hopes of the overwhelming majority of the nations represented in it.

Thus it was that we felt free to predict in these columns a few days ago that the United States would be the target at which much of the thought and effort of the Geneva conference would be directed, that the aim of the other nations would be in some way to get this country to become a party to some plan, undertaking or agreement by which the outside world would share with us our vast resources in raw materials; in other words, that it would be the aim of the conference to accomplish the putting of all the outside world on an equality with America.

The conference is but just opened, and already the movement to the end predicted is in full swing. The other nations to it not only want to share in our natural advantages, but in some of our man-made as well. A Dutch delegate has expressed interest at the passing of world production to the United States. Expressing the wonder of Europe at the greatness of the producing and consuming area of the United States, at the magnificence of our organization for banking and our practical transportation system, he uttered warning that South America, Asia, Africa and Oceania would soon be following our lead in the manufacturing of their materials instead of shipping them to Europe for manufacture and thus Europe would have nothing left but her home markets. In a word, he holds the United States responsible for his predicted loss of foreign markets to Europe. One Japanese representative spoke of the discriminatory treatment of persons and goods as of great detriment to commerce—a reference to the exclusion of Japanese, of course—and another representative from Japan wanted the United States to agree to the neutralization of the Panama canal, which would permit Japan to send her goods by free waterway—through the canal built by our resources and through our enterprise—to our Atlantic seaboard. A German delegate held that high wages results in the utilization of machinery, which causes increased unemployment. He raised the question whether it would not be better to employ the greatest number at low wages than a far lesser number to run machinery at far higher wages. If this means anything, it means that the high wage standard in this country is a thorn in the side of Europe.

Unfortunately for the tenability of his views, we have the high wage standard in this country without unemployment such as is suffered in Europe. We can't conceive of the United States abandoning other machinery or her high wage standard, which makes her prosperity, to utilize the remainder of the world. The entire trouble is that Europe begrudges us our wealth, our prosperity, our high-wage system, our high standard of living and would have us abandon our way of attaining them to accept hers and thus put them on an equality with us, but she can't see her way to accept the American way and utilize it for the accomplishment of all for which she envies us. As we said, last week, we can not see how good for the United States it is to come out of the international economic conference in Geneva.

It may be pointed out that Ruth Snyder and Judd Gray never gave the former's husband a chance to have a fit in an attempt to save his life.

The natural deduction from the story of the killing by customs officers of an aviator caught smuggling Chinamen into this country from Mexico is that the latest underground is run through the air.

Commenting on the fact that "Bucharest authorities have decided that the newly-introduced 'Charleston' is undermining the morals of the people," the Cincinnati Enquirer remarks: "Wonder what kind of a dance Prince Carol trained on." As we understand it, the morals of the royalty of continental Europe are not supposed to be regulated.

Senator Borah says he can't go to Europe, the coming summer. This is the first time we have ever come upon an admission from the senator that there is anything he can not do.

A census shows that 48,000,000 citizens of the United States are church members. Now if we had a census of those who practice the teachings of the church we could begin to do some real figuring on the chances of the devil being run to cover.

From his utterances we conclude that the Ohio State Journal man is suffering from a case of hives, possibly ignorant of the fact, as we poor blundering humans often are regarding cures for bodily ills, that all he has to do to get quick relief is to cut out sea foods and adopt a regular diet of spinach.

Vagrant Verse.

THE ONLY CHILD.

Her dresses all were feather-trimmed
 And what was more than that,
 She was an only child and lived
 In an apartment flat.

Her hair was bronzy gold and curled
 Her cheeks were rosy red—
 She had sore throat 'most every week
 And had to stay in bed.

Then she would wear a pink silk sack
 And have her cream to eat.
 While Mummy, Dad and Granny sat
 And thought up some new treat!

In renting this apartment where
 They took no girls or boys
 Her parents had explained she was Too frail to make a noise!

And when the folks downstairs complained
 Their ceiling had begun
 To tumble down because of all
 The jumping she had done—

And when the janitor came up
 And said, 'I'll not let her!
 She sings on de woe waning and
 She call me, 'Vood' and lat'!

Her Mummy, Dad and Granny sighed,
 "Oh, don't you, can't you see
 How sweet it is so frail a child
 Should show such energy!"

MAKING FRANCE SECURE.

To Ward Off Arterio-Sclerosis.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

"A New York City reader wishes an article on 'Arterio-Sclerosis.' Apparently he fears he has it and wants full information."

There are conditions in city life which are related to the onset of this disturbance. The stress and strain of business must be regarded as factors in its development.

In his great work on medicine, Professor Osier quotes the famous George Cheyne, a man of ponderous proportions. He is said to have reduced his weight from 150 pounds to the normal average. This was done by proper eating.

"This is what Cheyne said in the quaint language of his time: 'I was one man after fifty ought to be, and less than half the quantity of his aliment, and if he would continue free from great and dangerous distemper and preserve his senses and faculties clear to the last, and descend out of life as he descended into it, even into a child's diet.'"

"Put in other words," Osier says, "this reads: 'We eat too much after forty years of age.'"

At least a hundred times I have told you that you live on one-third of what you eat; the doctors are on the other two-thirds.

There is no doubt in my mind that overeating is one of the chief causes of ill health. It is certainly in the background of arterio-sclerosis.

This common affliction is really a thickening of the walls of the blood vessels. At first there may be patches of hardening and thickening. Later, the walls of all the arteries are involved.

There are certain evidences of this change in the vessels. The most common is high blood pressure. "Too many men and women past middle life are in constant fear of dreadful things because they have been told they have high pressure. There are so many factors entering into this symptom, that it may or may not mean a thing."

We speak of blood pressure of 120 to 130 as "normal." As a matter of fact, there are many persons just after middle life who run a pressure of 120 to 130 and still be "normal." I know a doctor who gave up his practice because his pressure went to 200. After waiting ten years to die, he decided to go back to work and is still at it after a dozen years.

Kidney disease and hardening of the arteries may be associated, but just because you have arterio-sclerosis and high blood pressure don't give up in despair. With careful living you will look all the possibilities.

Temperance in eating and drinking, attention to the bowel elimination, gentle exercise and cheerfulness of mind—these will carry you on your way and permit you to live out the normal expectation.

Editorial Comment.

AMERICANS IN ATHLETICS.

Young Lord Darghley, Cambridge university student, who came to this country to compete in the recent track meet at the University of Pennsylvania, makes the interesting, but far from original, comment that American participation in athletics is too intense. As a result of the intensity, American athletes are "thrust out" before they reach the age when they should be at their best.

Sweeping statements of that sort can not be substantiated. While, unquestionably, some young Americans, particularly in the colleges, burn themselves out with athletics, there is a far greater number who are materially benefited. As an argument in support of his case, Lord Darghley, who is twenty-two, said that one of his principal competitors in England was a hurdler ten years his senior. Not many Americans of thirty-two, he said, competed in the more violent forms of athletics.

That is true, except for the professional baseball players, the boxers and a few others, and on the chess and in the prize ring a man of thirty-two is regarded as growing old. But, ordinarily, by the time they are thirty-two Americans who were active in college athletics are following business careers as strenuously as they followed sport, with only an occasional afternoon off for golf or tennis.

It would be better for them, no doubt, if they followed athletics less assiduously in college and kept up a modified form of athletic training long after graduation.

There has been a great deal of unwarranted generalization about the effects of athletic careers on the young men of this country. Talk on the subject has been voluminous, but accurate information has been lacking. That lack, it is hoped will be supplied by a statistical investigation which the Carnegie Foundation has undertaken—a questionnaire calculated to elicit information as to the effect of athletics on the student career and the subsequent life of every man who has competed in athletics for any American college or university during a long period of years.

Properly analyzed and classified, the replies to that questionnaire should furnish much valuable information to college authorities and others in the rearrangement of athletic programs and the regulation of students' participation in athletic contests.—Chicago News.

SOCIETY'S SELF-PROTECTION.

The broad right of society to protect itself against the perpetration of the imbecile and hopelessly unfit is upheld in the supreme court decision affirming the constitutionality of the Virginia sterilization act. The act has been pronounced valid by the highest tribunal of the state, but was carried to the supreme court on the ground that the plaintiff had been deprived, contrary to the fourteenth amendment, of due process and protection of law.

There was proof in this case that the plaintiff, a feeble-minded woman, was the daughter of a feeble-minded mother and the mother of a feeble-minded child. "Three generations of imbeciles are enough," remarks Justice Holmes sentimentally in the course of his opinion. He finds that the principle that sustains compulsory vaccination is broad enough to cover a sterilization law.

While few may dispute the legitimacy and essential humanity of the application of the law in such a case, it must be admitted that such procedures are liable to great abuse unless carefully safeguarded. Eugenic enthusiasts are apt to go to extremes and many scientists lean to the hard-boiled type.

It is easy to multiply definitions of morons and "unfit" plenty of aliens would allow few of their fellow creatures to be entirely sane. It is noteworthy that in this case the court closely analyzed the procedure under the Virginia statute and found that every right, including that of appeal to the courts, was preserved for each person made defendant under the statute. It is a fair inference from the decision that no statute less careful of "due process" and "equal protection" of the laws would be allowed to stand in the high court.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

FOG-PIERCING LIGHT.

A light that will pierce fog is announced by a London inventor who in a recent demonstration penetrated a chemical mist with the rays of the lamp. If tests prove the invention practical, the possibilities are unlimited. Ships at sea, aeroplanes and automobiles could be equipped with such lights and that to cut their way through fog and mist. That way lives would be saved and accidents avoided is a certainty. There is no more hopeless feeling, whether in aeroplane, boat or motor car, than to be enveloped by an impenetrable fog. The world is blotted out and no eyes are strong enough to pierce the gloom. If the new light proves a success its benefits to mankind will be enormous and an eager world will watch with intense interest the results of further experiments.—Washington Star.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Somebody has defined the idea of a liberal education as intelligence, emancipation, magnanimity. Perhaps so—but the word emancipation ought to be qualified. Too many people think they have some sort of right to emancipation—freedom from the laws of the land and the customs of society. It is not a sign of education—rather a sign of ignorance—to feel that way.

If you would like to clip something out of this newspaper today, clip this—by John Fiske, the great historian:

"The final product of a world of evolution is a character which creates happiness within itself, with ever fresh possibilities of higher life and richer joy, fulfilling truth and beauty in directions ever new."

When Robert Louis Stevenson exclaimed: "I believe in the ultimate decency of things and if I awake in hell I would still believe it," he expressed the kind of strong, complete faith that a man needs in this life. So long as we live we are going to see signs of breakdown all about us. There are going to be disillusioning and discouraging experiences for all of us. Life calls for the long look—the vision that sees beyond the dark days and the dark years. We are, in a fashion, the creatures of circumstance—but only for a time. Ultimately we are the creatures of purpose.

If you drive your car blocks and blocks just to find a place to park, that is waste mileage. When you don't go straight, at the time you waste it, that is waste effort. More weariness comes from false motion than from work.

New York Day by Day.

BY U. O. MINTYLL.

New York, May 12—Hundreds who tap out in the backyard or otherwise, accumulate their wealth, trek to Gotham to spurge. The metropolis is considered an outlet for a swollen purse. There are so many ways here of thinning the bankroll.

To New York, these innocents are the rich and they watch their amusing doings with a slight lift of eyebrow. Jolly folks, but so bourgeois, you know. They are legitimate prey for the dressmakers—who tell them casually of Mrs. Astor's buying 100 gowns at a clip.

Also for period furniture dealers, interior decorators, sellers of first editions, antique mongers and such. They begin quickly to learn of Rembrandts and Cezannes. To supplant "third girls" with the new French caps and manners of chilled steel.

Even the bootleggers are soon convincing them there are beverages a trifle more Continental than coffee. And Papa in no time has parked his scrap chewing tobacco in the ash can and has learned to select a rose-time cigarette from a jade bowl.

They learn rapidly these newly rich. They want to get on socially and they do not question the price. Some of their antics are uproariously amusing. They tell of one, for instance, who had a slither rope looped from brass stanchions, like those at cafe entrance, at his dining-room door.

Another acquired a Gothic home with sweeping lawns and hedge copse. The lawns stood at special tribute to the art of the landscape gardener. But the owner was not quite satisfied. It lacked a Frog Crossing touch. So he studded the lawn with iron deer and an extra added conceit had their antlers lighted by tiny electric bulbs at night.

Many of them, as a high-life gesture, back a Broadway show. The original butter and egg men along the Rialto was a Kansan who asked to be a star in a 110-hour fortune telling daily. New York may smile, but it would suffer greatly without them. They are the heaviest of all heavy spenders.

The most poignantly pathetic story of mother love instinct comes from a Jersey farmer. A mother bird had her nest in a haystack. The birdlings had just hatched, when fire broke out in the hay stack and afterward the mother bird found the charred ashes of the mother bird with her wings stretched out over her brood. The story brought tears to one hard-boiled sinner.

SMALL POX TIMES FOUND ISOLATED

applies were beyond miles of water, all sanitary facilities were gone. A little band is attended to in the forests at the tip of the river, where an isolation hospital is for all others from a district whom the rescue force from Louisiana can round up. The entire community about the landing will be rushed, post haste, to Harrisonburg.

As took off from Natchez at 10 a. m. to carry serum to camp, a rescue along the northern bank of the river and its tributaries is being made. Everyone who is being rescued will be inoculated.

There are three refugees in the Harrisonburg district, and approximately 12,000 Red Cross medical officers located at immediate isolation of the patients in the probability of an epidemic of the dread landings in Franklin on the north end of the state, on which has been under water for two weeks from the Arkansas stricken knot of refugees was discovered by Miss Winifred Calahan, volunteer Red Cross worker, who flew from Harrisonburg to Natchez in a navy airplane to prepare the concentration center there for its last great fight. Today she flew back with thousands of tubes of vaccine. Miss Calahan has been connected recently with civil welfare organizations in Cleveland, Ohio. Her home is in Fort Wayne, Ind.

Fear Sand Boils

While small pox threatened new havoc in northern Louisiana, sand boils in the main channel levee increased the tension throughout the southern half of the state, which has been leved for days for a break in the Bayou des Glaives levee in southern Avoyelles Parish.

"The water behind this last barrier of the flood has been rising six inches a day for the last three days," said a state engineer's report this morning from Simmesport, at the junction of the Atchafalaya and Old Rivers. Thousands of levee defenders continued their heroic struggle against the inexorable waters as the machinery of rescue and relief speeded its preparations to cope with disaster in the six rich and fertile parishes beyond the slowly crumbling protecting wall.

On the east bank of the river, 18 miles south of Baton Rouge, a public health service vessel stands guard today over the famous Carrville leper colony, where 250 patients are endangered by the rising waters.

Levees Patrolled

Three sand boils in the east bank levee within 25 miles of Baton Rouge during the last four days have soaked the 50 foot levee through. Wood revetments have been thrown out into the river as protection to the soft levee a few miles from the leper colony. More than 2,000,000 sand bags have been piled up in one section of a mile and a half just south of Carrville.

Citizens of the community patrolled the levees, watching for new points of seepage. Weather reports predict a rise of 10 to 15 inches in the Carrville region before the crest of the flood passes. Members of the district levee board are manifestly annoyed but insist their dikes are safe. A break in the east bank levee south of Baton Rouge has been held by federal engineers to be far less likely than a crevasse in the west levee.

Near Panic Prevails

Panic prevailed in the Carrville district for several hours last night when a single sand bag was washed out of the levee. A member of the dike who chanced to be on the spot was swept from his feet and rolled down the inside

Check Shows Mail Carriers Walk 12 to 16 Miles Daily

HOW would you like to take a money of 12 or 16 miles a day for your self, especially in the age of automobiles? Perhaps you might not mind the same so much but add to this a pack weighing anywhere around 50 pounds.

There are folks who really do this right here in Marion, rain or shine, and seem to think nothing of it. In the mailmen on some of the outlying routes. A recent check in the carrier department brought out the news. The men are out on their routes from three and one-half to three and three-quarters hours, of course depending on the weight of the mails and outside of the business district make two complete deliveries a day. In the up-town district four trips are made a day.

The 20 "foot" carriers average a little more than 100 steps each.

of the 25 foot wall before the rushing water. Picking himself up from the mud he ran down the road in the manner of Paul Revere broadcasting on a long lung length, "Crevasse, Crevasse." The community for five miles around was aroused in a flash. Hundreds gathered about the deserted patrol, threw in a few sand bags and stopped the flow. The incident is symptomatic of the nervous state in which land owners and tenant farmers throughout several thousand square miles in Louisiana have lived for almost a month.

Sarabville Tragedy Follows
Refusal of Girl To With-

Zanesville, May 12—Two persons are dead today at Sarabville, Noble County, near here, following an unusual tragedy.

Charles Swain, 50, prominent farmer, shot and killed himself instantly, after slaying the 5-month-old daughter of Miss Rette Highman, daughter of a neighboring family.

Swain's son, Emanuel Swain, 21, was married in April to Miss Mildred

Grimes, and immediately afterward, Miss Highman filed a statutory charge against the youth alleging that he was the father of her child, Gloria Anne. The elder Swain late yesterday called at the home of Miss Highman's parents, called the young woman to the front porch, and begged her to withdraw the charge. She refused, and Swain suddenly drew a revolver from his pocket and shot the baby through the head, killing her instantly. Swain then shot himself. The baby's clothing caught fire from the gun-shot, fired at close range, and her body was almost consumed by fire before relatives of the mother put out the blaze. The mother was uninjured.

POPULAR YOUNG LADY INDORSES NEW KONJOLA

Stomach Misery, Headaches, and Dizzy Spells; All Quickly Ended.

Indigestion—gas and bloating feeling like a rock in the stomach—wild heart palpitation—feeling like fire from the throat to the pit of the stomach—awful headaches—loss of weight, tissue and strength—sour stomach and cramps—these are some of the symptoms of a disordered stomach. People who take this new Konjola find there is nothing like this celebrated medicine to relieve a disordered stomach and put a stop to such distress and misery. For instance, just a short time ago, Mrs. A. Ristow, a popular young lady of Hamilton, Ohio, living at 1201 Hanover St., that city, made the following statement about Konjola while talking with the Konjola Man who is now in Marion, at the Stump Pharmacy, (Stump and Sauer), 121 South Main St., where he is daily meeting crowds of men and women from all over this section and explaining Konjola.

MRS. A. RISTOW

"I suffered with stomach troubles of the worst kind for almost 8 years," said Mrs. Ristow. "I was subject to dizzy spells, had dreadful headaches and attacks of cramps. Every meal I ate brought on intense misery from gas and bloating."

"I treated with specialists and had taken about 20 different medicines, but my trouble seemed to go from bad to worse. I found out about this Konjola, and now since I have taken it I am free of indigestion entirely. At the same time this Konjola increased my weight about 15 pounds. I never have dizzy spells, headaches or cramps. My food agrees with me and is giving me nourishment. It seems like my entire appearance is changed and I have more energy than I had in years. I am grateful to Konjola and recommend it to others."

The Konjola Man is at the Stump Pharmacy, (Stump and Sauer), 121 South Main St., Marion, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.—Adv.

May Ask Solons to Pass Bill Items Over Donahay's Veto

GOVERNOR CUTS FOUR MILLIONS FROM MEASURE

Physical Education Buildings at Universities Included Among Vetoed Items

Columbus, May 12—Ohio legislative leaders today were considering the advisability of requesting the solons, when they reconvene here May 31, to re-pass, over the governor's veto, at least some of the items cut out of the Williamson General Appropriations Bill by Gov. Vic Donahay.

The governor, it was announced, blue-penciled items, totaling about $1,015,000 from the Williamson Bill, thereby reducing from $53,500,000, the amount fixed by the legislature, to $52,485,000 the amount which may be expended to defray costs of state governmental operations during the 18-month period beginning July 1, next.

A few days ago, it was intimated that Donahay expected to slash about $8,000,000 from the Williamson Bill, including $3,000,000 for state aid for week school districts, $200,000 as state aid for county health districts, state aid for salaries of county superintendents and assistants, and $12,000 for traveling expenses of the American Legion band of Ohio to Paris this year, on the ground of insufficient state revenues.

Changes His Mind

Passage by the legislature of the Dodd Bill, providing for a 6-10 mill direct state tax levy, however, induced the governor to change his mind, it was indicated.

Major items vetoed by the governor include:

Physical education building at Ohio State University, $500,000; physical education building at Miami University, Oxford, $300,000; tubercular cattle composition, $250,000 (leaving $300,000 available for this purpose); state aid for township road construction, $200,000; entire appropriation for state library, $120,000; remodeling Merrill Hall, Kent Normal School, $80,000; Reclamation Building, Bowling Green, $200,000; traveling expenses of all state departments, $200,000; additional land for state firegrounds, $80,000; legislative committees, for expenses, $80,000.

If the governor's vetoes stand, it was stated, the state library will be closed for 18 months, beginning July 1, next.

OHIO LEGISLATURE RECESSES TO MAY 31

Columbus, May 12—Completing its financial program, designed to wipe out the deficit in the state's general revenue fund, the Ohio Legislature early today recessed until May 31.

The senate and house ended their activities, for the time being, shortly after midnight.

Program measures which passed both legislative branches and are now up to Gov. Vic Donahay, for his approval or rejection, include:

The Dodd Bill, providing for a direct state tax levy of 6-10 of one mill, based upon the 1927 grand tax duplicate, to be collected next December and in June 1928.

The Myers Bill, providing for increasing the state excise tax on gross premiums of foreign insurance companies from 2-1/2 to 3 per cent.

Paves Fee Schedule

The Angier Bill, specifying conditions under which foreign corporations may do business in Ohio and fixing a schedule of fees to be charged these corporations and collected by the secretary of state.

The Ballou Bill, authorizing the state auditor to make transfers from state funds to the state general revenue fund temporarily, for the purpose of relieving existing deficits in that fund, and declaring an emergency.

The direct state tax levy in expected to yield about $8,000,000 all of which is to be paid into the state general revenue fund. The Myers Bill is expected to increase the revenues to about $2,000,000 annually.

Insurance companies, it was stated, are exempting the governor's office with requests that the Myers Bill be vetoed by the governor.

Other Bills Passed

Other measures passed by the Ohio Legislature at its session here this week are:

The Sullivan Bill, increasing the state gasoline tax from two to three cents per gallon, after eliminating a rebate amendment which sought to reduce the annual state license fee on pleasure autos 50 per cent.

The Chappellier Election Reform Bill (requested by the governor), including provision for optional permanent registration of voters in all cities and registration districts throughout the state.

The Lefebvre Bill, (requested by the governor) empowering the state utilities commission, with the approval of the governor, to appoint attorney-examiners and discharge its own employees.

The Norton Bill, amending the Norton highway reconditioning act by eliminating certain provisions objected to by Governor Donahay and providing that the governor may remove at will the state highway director; requiring use of prison-made brick on the highways; and increasing the authority of the state highway director in grade crossing eliminations.

State Legion Head Denies Charge That Spirit of Militarism Pervades Posts

Herbert R. Mooney, Woodsfield, Vigorously Defends Policies of World War Veterans' Organization in Address Here in Connection with Membership Campaign

Charges that the spirit of militarism exists in the American Legion were vigorously answered and denied by Herbert R. Mooney of Woodsfield, state commander of the Legion, and other speakers at a meeting held here last night in connection with a membership campaign being conducted by the World War veterans' organization in Marion County.

Declarations that the Legion is fundamentally opposed to any policy regarded as a menace to peace were made to the speakers as a direct answer to charges recently made at a meeting of women peace advocates held in Cleveland. One of the women addressing the meeting made the assertion that the Legion is strongly inclined toward militarism.

"Members of the Legion are far from being militaristic," Commander Mooney declared emphatically. "But, thank God, they are not pacifists."

He explained that by pacifists he referred to persons of radical tendencies who would destroy all of the nation's defense structure and leave it unprotected for resistance to attack by an enemy.

"These are the people," he informed his audience, "who think that no good came out of the World War, despite the fact that Germany now has a republic instead of a monarchy and other changes of great benefit to the world in general have been effected."

G. V. Paschall, Legion executive committeeman in charge of the Central Ohio district, and Grant E. Mosser, Jr., special counsel in the attorney general's office at Columbus, were other speakers placing emphasis on statements that the Legion is strong and determined in its advocacy of peace.

Both Paschall and Mosser are former Marion residents. Mr. Mosser having served as city solicitor here prior to becoming an assistant to the attorney general.

In connection with last night's meeting it was announced that Alvin McGinnis Post, No. 102, of the American Legion, had reached its quota in the membership drive which is in progress throughout the state and that the three other posts in the county were near their goals. The enrollment of Alvin McGinnis Post has reached 183, two above the quota.

L. Don Jones, commander of the post, who presided at the meeting stated that the campaign for applications would be continued during the next three days in hope of bringing the total to 200. The campaign started here and in all other counties of the state on May 1 and will be continued May 11.

The meeting, held at the Elks lodge hall on 8 State st., was attended by about 200 persons from the city of Marion and other points in the county. The gathering included members of the Legion and ladies' auxiliary and a number of guests not connected with either organization. The public had been invited.

Initiation Ceremony

A public initiation ceremony in which seven new members became members of Alvin McGinnis Post, was a feature of the program.

The initiation was in charge of Commander Jones and George T. Gorman, Francis R. Perry and T. B. Kinner of the Salvation Army, Captain Kilborn of the Larkin Legion Post and Harry Gast of the Prospect Post. Bands music during the initiation service and throughout the remainder of the program was furnished by Oscar Gast of Alvin McGinnis Post. Captain Kilborn, a veteran of the Canadian forces in the World War, served as chaplain.

Four addresses were included in the program, which lasted from shortly after 8 o'clock until 10:30. In addition to the talks by Mooney, Mosser and Paschall, there was one by J. J. Saslowsky of Columbus, state adjutant of the Legion, in which he outlined plans for this year's Legion convention in Paris, the first to be held overseas.

About 12,000 reservations for transportation and hotel accommodations have been made, approximately 600 of this number being from Ohio, Mr. Saslowsky said. Most of the Ohio delegation will make the trip on the S. S. Celtic. Several from Marion have signified their intention of attending the convention.

Service Slogan

"Community service" is the slogan of the Legion, the year's State Commander Mooney said in his talk last night. "The organization is committed to a program which is certain to be of great benefit to the nation, he stated."

Since he took office as head of the Legion in Ohio, 120 posts have reported doing important work in behalf of their communities. He cited Marysville Post as an example. The Marysville organization, he said, has purchased a 24-acre tract of land which is to be presented to the town for park purposes. "When we cease to be of service to our reason for existence ceases," Mooney declared.

In his comments on the Legion's attitude toward militarism, the state commander said: "The international situation now shows us that this is a time to sink our navy and do away with our army. The Legion does not advocate maintaining a military machine but it does favor maintaining adequate defense equipment. The country can not afford to go unprotected and again be confronted with the situation which existed at the beginning of the World War. It is estimated that 50 per cent. of the casualties in that war were due to unpreparedness."

The Legion does not advocate maintaining a military machine but it does favor maintaining adequate defense equipment. The country can not afford to go unprotected and again be confronted with the situation which existed at the beginning of the World War. It is estimated that 50 per cent. of the casualties in that war were due to unpreparedness."

Cites Service Need

The need of the Legion's service in behalf of disabled veterans and their families is greater now than ever, Commander Mooney said. "This is largely to rapid increase in the number of veterans becoming mentally unbalanced as the result of their overseas service. Many families are left without means of support because of these cases," he stated.

G. V. Paschall, Legion chairman in the Central Ohio district, stated that this district stands last in the state membership enrollment. It should be first, he declared, requesting Marion County war veterans to assist him in raising it to leadership. Alvin McGinnis post at one time had 600 members and there is no reason why that figure can not be reached again, he stated.

SPORT SAUCE

BY EDDIE SCHOENLEB

INTEREST in track at Harding is high this spring is greater than ever before.

That statement is not an exaggeration. When we consider the fact that 16 youths are to represent Marion in the state events at the Delaware meet this week and remember that Harding a week ago had its first interclass meet, it is time to sit up and take notice.

This interest is all the more remarkable when we find that it was not a coach that suggested the idea. The boys just decided to try their luck in track and have done their best. Coach Sprout gladly supported the decision and has been out with the tracksters practically every school day of the last few weeks, giving instructions and suggestions.

Marion has no cinder track and the sport has completely died until its usual revival this spring. Harding High has no track equipment. The boys purchase their own spiked shoes and furnish their own suits.

It is safe to say that not in many years has an athletic spirit of this nature prevailed in the local high school, and Harding High and Marion should be proud to recognize the efforts of boys to keep their school on the athletic map of Central Ohio.

AGAIN the popularity of recreational ball in Marion has left its impression. Where is the usual industrial baseball league? It has succumbed to the attack of the soft ball craze.

BAN JOHNSON FINES SIMMONS AND COBB $200

Connie Mack, Manager of Athletics, Says Incident Is Closed

Pittsburgh, May 12—Although expressing regret that Ban Johnson, president of the American League, did not see fit to "hear both sides of the case," Connie Mack, manager of the Athletics today declared that he regarded the action of Johnson in fining Ty Cobb and A. Simmons $200 each as a closed incident.

The players were fined for their part in an argument with Louie Linnert, umpire in the Boston Philadelphia game in Philadelphia last Thursday.

Johnson in a letter to Mack, attributed much of the disturbance in Philadelphia to a "lack of fairness, intelligence and true sportsmanship" on the part of the Philadelphia management.

Cobb was taken to task for "lack of intelligence" in brushing against the umpire. Simmons was described as a "young outfielder, plainly lacking in knowledge of the American League's established customs."

MARION OUTFIT TO FACE TOUGH SCHEDULE HERE

Akron Team One of Best Semi-Pro Organizations in Ohio

The Swinehearts of Akron, one of the best semi-pro baseball teams in Ohio, will clash with the Marion Athletics at Lincoln Park Sunday afternoon, in the third contest of the season for the locals.

It was previously announced that the Marion Athletics would through the opposition Sunday but a change in schedule will introduce the Swinehearts, one of the few clubs able to defeat Marion last season.

Marion's lineup for the Swineheart crew are the same this season. One unfortunate occurrence last week removed Dunsple, third baseman for the Akron team, from the lineup for the rest of the season Dunsple received a broken leg.

Tidman, coming, will be remembered by local fans. He pitched a home run over the fence in our game here last season. Herwick and Corl will hold down second and first respectively. Both were here last season.

Ewing will be on the mound. He pitched the Akron aggregation to its win over Marion last season and seen the reason why he shouldn't perform the feat once more this year. Keller will also be here as a relief pitcher, in case he's needed. Tedreau will catch for the Swinehearts while Mercer, a relief catcher, will also journey here with the Akron men.

The Swinehearts are pitted against the Goodyears and Firestones on a lumbering occasion each season and have always been able to hold their own. That fact alone is enough to assure all Marion fans that they will see a real team in action next Sunday.

Probably Same Lineup

The locals probably will lineup in the same manner followed last week, although the right field garden forms a puzzling problem. Reese filled that position in the first game of the season and last week Colegrove and Taylor were found there.

Main will be on the mound with Harn on the receiving end. This battery has played a big part in Marion's two victories so far this season and are expected to continue to perform in a creditable manner.

BABE HITS EIGHTH

New York and Chicago Are Monopolizing Home Run Honors

New York, May 12—In 1921, he scored breaking year, Babe Ruth made his eighth home run on May 7 in the sixteenth game. Yesterday May 11, he hit his eighth homer of the current season in the twenty-fifth game.

New York and Chicago are monopolizing home run honors this year. Gehrig of the Yankees follows Ruth with seven homers, while Honus of the Giants and Wilson and Webb of the Cubs have made six each. The Cubs and the Yankees have each made 20 homers and the Giants 19.

FOOTBALL IN ENGLAND

Up till about 80 years ago all public schools in England played their own special variety of football, and many of these games survive today. One of the best known is Eton's famous Wall Game, in which scoring a goal is so difficult that only three or four have been recorded during the past 150 years.

The game is so difficult that it never has been adopted elsewhere, though played regularly by the Eton boys for many generations.

BANS GAMBLING AT NORTHERN OHIO MEETS

Officers Direct Killing Blows at Horse Racing in Two Counties

Cleveland, May 12—Horse racing in Northern Ohio, with the possible exception of Port Miami track at Toledo, apparently will be but a memory, following two killing blows directed at the sport Wednesday in Cuyahoga and Stark counties.

Following Cuyahoga County Sheriff J. J. Hanrahan's ultimatum, that he would "use all men and means at his disposal to enforce the law against gambling, including testing at race tracks," word came from Akron that 22 indictments had been returned against operators of pari-mutuel machines at Northampton Park. Ten were named and each faces two charges—selling tickets on a game of chance, and gambling. Whether the indictments would affect the balance of the present sport was not known.

The first racing scheduled for Cuyahoga County is the Ohio Jockey Club's meeting at Maple Heights, starting May 25. Whether the program will start as scheduled is now problematical.

Hanrahan's order means the closing of horse racing in this vicinity," said J. H. McMillen, president and manager of Northampton, the largest track in Cuyahoga County. "The sheriff's kill of horse racing in this form."

It is probable, however, that Northampton may go through with scheduled trotting races this year, owing to signed contracts and other obligations, but it is claimed the operation will be at a loss, with betting eliminated.

BETTER THAN EVER

Ellen Mills More Formidable Tennis Player Than Ever Before, Say Critics

New York, May 12—Tennis experts agreed today that Miss Ellen Mills, former national women's champion, is a more formidable player than ever before in her brilliant career. In two practice sets with Edna Giffen, a fellow Californian, at Forest Hills yesterday she demonstrated that she has strengthened her backhand considerably, is quicker in her court covering than formerly, and has developed a more method stroke.

Following a final practice match today, Miss Mills will sail for England Friday night to compete in the all-England tournament.

Plan First Scheduled Games of Recreational Ball Leagues Tonight If Rain or Cold Weather Do Not Interfere; Rain Stops Yesterday's Contests

THE Industrial recreational ball league will open the season here tonight, providing weather conditions are favorable. It was announced today. The Sunday School league games booked for Tuesday and postponed to last night, have not yet been played. The Industrial games are scheduled on gold diamonds through out the city and, unless it is raining at the hour the contests are called, they will in all probability be played. Weather will be the determining factor.

Commercial League Friday

Friday night, providing the weather is favorable, the Commercial group will open its season. The games in league also are billed for the best grounds of the city and unless a cloudy burst occurs or a snowstorm blows from the North, they will be played. Here are the games in the leagues for tonight and Friday.

Another Good Man Gone Wrong!

[The Sad Story of a Rotted Dress Suit]

"You can't tell it from the real thing," said the gentlemen above when he rented a dress suit. Now, as you can see, he is a sadder but wiser man.

He knows, now, that there is no substitute for the "real thing." Take Puritan Malt, for example. Naturally, there are plenty of imitations—stuff that looks just like the "real thing." But you can't feel many people more than once—and that's why Puritan popularity is practically unanimous everywhere. The choicest No. 1 barley blended with genuine imported Bohemian Hops.

Stomach Gas Drives Man from Bed

"I had gas so bad I had to get up nights on account of the pressure on my heart. I used Adierka and have been entirely relieved."—R. F. Krueger.

Margaret Anglin, Honored* Stage Star, ever careful of her voice, writes:

"Certainly women of the theatre must be careful of their voices. The one cigarette, I have observed, which seems to protect the throat and give the greatest enjoyment is Lucky Strike."

Margaret Anglin

LUCKY STRIKE CIGARETTES

You, too, will find that Lucky Strikes are mild and mellow—the finest cigarettes you ever smoked, made of the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process—"It's toasted"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

"It's toasted"

*Among the many honors conferred on Miss Anglin is the recent award of the Laureus Medal, which is presented annually by New York University to actresses in the city. This medal was first conferred in 1923 and Miss Anglin is the sixth woman to receive this honor.

Arrangements were also made for a fish supper to be held at next week's meeting of Buckeye Aerie. The fish will be furnished by Secretary Abel, who left this morning on a fishing trip to the lakes with expectation of bringing back ample supplies for the supper.

Two candidates were initiated and 12 applications for membership received at last night's meeting.

MARION MAN IS CHOSEN HISTORIAN FOR CLASS

Dr. James W. McMurray Elected at Reunion of Medical School Group

Dr. James W. McMurray was chosen historian at the first reunion of members of the graduating class of 1897 Sterling Ohio Medical College held last night in the Southern Hotel, Columbus. Members of the class are attending the eighty-first annual meeting of the Ohio Medical Association in session in Columbus this week. Dr. D. C. Houser, of Urbana, through whose efforts the reunion was arranged, was chosen president and his daughter, Mrs. Lela Houser was chosen secretary-treasurer. Dr. C. S. Burnside, this city, and Dr. B. D. Osborn, of Wadsworth, are members of the class.

Of the 81 members of the class, 23 are dead and addresses of a dozen or more are unknown. The attendance last night numbered 29. It was voted to meet next year during the meeting of the state association in Cincinnati, and plans were made to make the reunion an annual affair.

CHARGES WITHDRAWN

A non-support charge preferred against Herbert Whysall by his wife and under which charge he was arrested yesterday afternoon, was withdrawn late yesterday and the case dismissed when Whysall agreed to make up overdue payments and keep up his payments better in the future.

It is great to have a clear skin

A clear skin means everything to you and your women. You cannot get it with external applications. If you are unfortunate to have pimples or skin blemishes, in justice to your friends and yourself, you should treat the source of the trouble. Nature will then provide the complexion which is so much desired.

Thousands have been enabled to free themselves of unsightly blemishes and painful annoyances by taking a course of S.S.S.

You owe it to yourself to try S.S.S. It helps Nature build up red corpuscles. It improves the processes by which the blood is nourished.

I suffered from impure blood—was weak, and I had lost so much weight I didn't look natural. I had pimples and was also bothered with a breaking out that itched terribly. I also had boils one after another. I tried different kinds of remedies, but nothing did me any good until a friend advised me to take S.S.S., which I did. This was some time ago. Now I feel well, and I am getting along fine. S.S.S. stopped the itching and it cured me of boils. I advised all weak and run-down people to give S.S.S. a trial. It clears up the skin and makes you strong and fills you with energy. Mrs. J. W. Barker, 1337 Walnut Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

S.S.S. is made from the fresh roots of medicinal herbs and plants, and is prepared in a scientific way in a modern laboratory. It is time-tried and reliable.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.—Adv.
